

ACEM Commitment on the adoption of an Automatic Headlamp On specification

The motorcycle and moped manufacturers represented by ACEM have adopted the following commitment:

Starting from 2002, we, Powered-Two-Wheelers (PTWs) manufacturers represented by ACEM, will begin to introduce on the market models fitted with "Automatic Headlamp On". By June 17th 2003, all new vehicles will comply with that specification.

Automatic Headlamp On (AHO) specification means that headlamp will illuminate as soon as the engine has started. There are two main benefits from the adoption of AHO:

1. The conspicuity of PTWs is likely to be improved,
2. A growing number of countries require that PTWs are used with their headlamps on at all times, therefore there is a cost saving through specification harmonisation and simplification of switch-gear.
